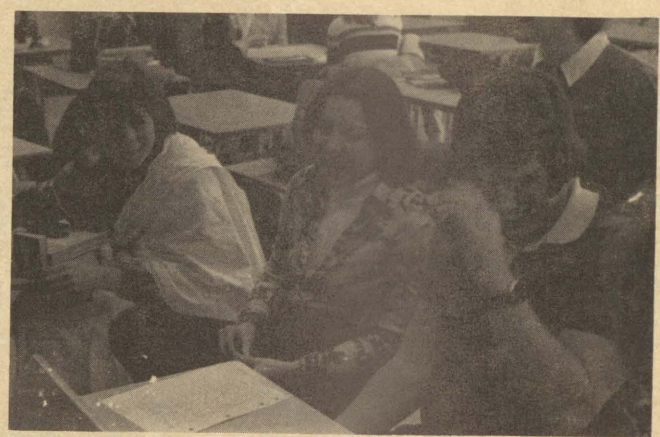
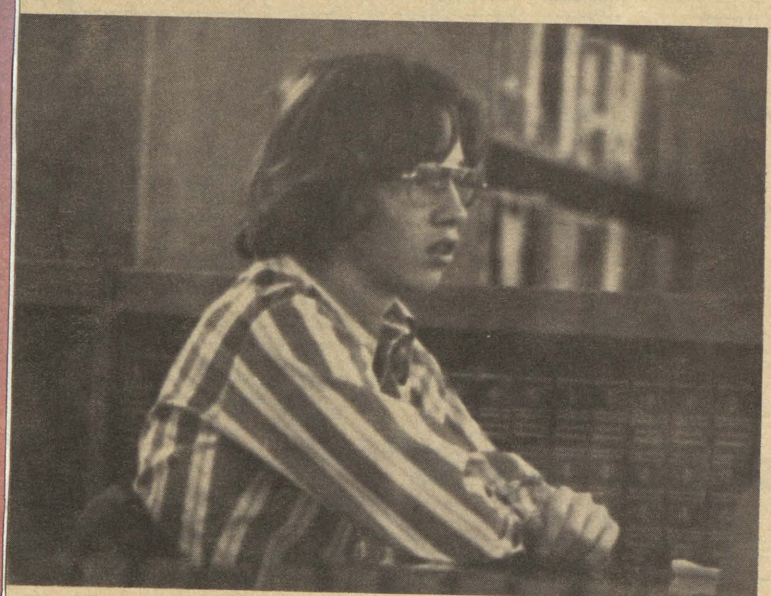
Songs are reflections of the times, putting to music the happenings of the day. They are written by many individuals, who create a song out of events or their own emotions.

Sometimes in our lives, we can identify with these lyrical statements, applying them in our own way to our own experiences;



the happy songs when we're feeling good,



mellow when we're thoughtful, the tearful songs when we're low,

And the exciting songs when we want to win it all!

GENERALS' FIGHT SONG

We will fight, blue and white
We will win this game
tonight
As our Generals go marching
along;
We will fight to the end
Our goals to defend
As our Generals go marching
along
For its 1. . .2. . .3, on to victory,
Cheer for our team loyal and strong
So we will fight, fight, fight for the blue and white
As our Generals go marching
along
As our Generals go marching along, FIGHT

This year's football season extended beyond the norm for the Generals as they made their way to the class B State Championship for the second time in three years.

The first step was to defeat Essexville-Garber in the quarter finals, which was accomplished with a score of 27-14. The semi-finals pitted the Generals against the team ranked number one in the state. Grand Rapids West Catholic fell to MacArthur's strong defense, 14-6. The Generals were off to the Silverdome!

In Jackson Lumen Christi, MacArthur faced grueling opposition. It appeared, however, that victory would be ours as the score in the fourth quarter stood at 16-10 in favor of the Generals. Lumen Christi came from behind to make the final score 16-17, and MacArthur bid farewell to championship dreams.

But the team and all the student body know that even in defeat, spirit, sportsmanship, attitude and determination still make the 1977 DM Varsity Generals the Champions.

JV & FROSH: FUTURE CHAMPS

The Junior Varsity team, under the coaching staff of Dave Coffey, had a great season this year. Coach Coffey exclaimed, "This was a super season! The team could really put it together, especially in the last win over Oscoda." Award recipients, as voted by their teammates, were Jeff Stemler, Most Valuable Lineman; Ron Gonzales, Most Valuable Back; and Lindsay Smith, Most Improved. Something new this year, added by the JV Coaches, was the Coaches Award for the players who excelled during the season. Those receiving this new award were Rich Baskins, Jim Young, and Steve Fox, who played five different positions.

The Freshman team this year, under the leadership of Bernie Call, had a fantastic season also, going undefeated until the very last game. With a season of six wins and one loss, the Frosh team had nothing to be ashamed of. They could be future Silverdome contenders! Awards voted by the players were Andy Rank, Most Valuable Offensive Player; Mike Shields, Most Valuable Defensive Player; Sean Dunham, Outstanding Performance on the Offensive Line; and Mike Gerard, Outstanding Performance on Offense.

Cross country is not much of a spectator sport, but it is physically and mentally demanding. The runners have to enjoy the sport, because the practices are difficult and many times they cover ten miles in a day. Unlike many other sports, the cross country team is small and close-knit. Cross runners come in all shapes and sizes and cross country provides good conditioning for all winter and spring sports.

The runners are usually very close in the start of a race. They have to be careful not to step on each other with their spiked shoes.

With a record of 6 and 4 there was some question on the conference meet, but 1ST place was their's. Next, regionals with a 9 and 5 record, was bound to be a first, and it was. Ending the season with a 9 and 6 record, the Generals were not favored but in the state ended up 14TH.

This year's girls' varsity swim team showed how deep their spirit really was by going undefeated in dual meet competition (12-0). They also took First in the Dow Invitational, second in the Midland and Dow relays.

Outstanding seniors are Sue Bow, Amy Vescio, Sue Johnson, Bev Gleffe, Doreen Collier, and Jane Kleinfeld.

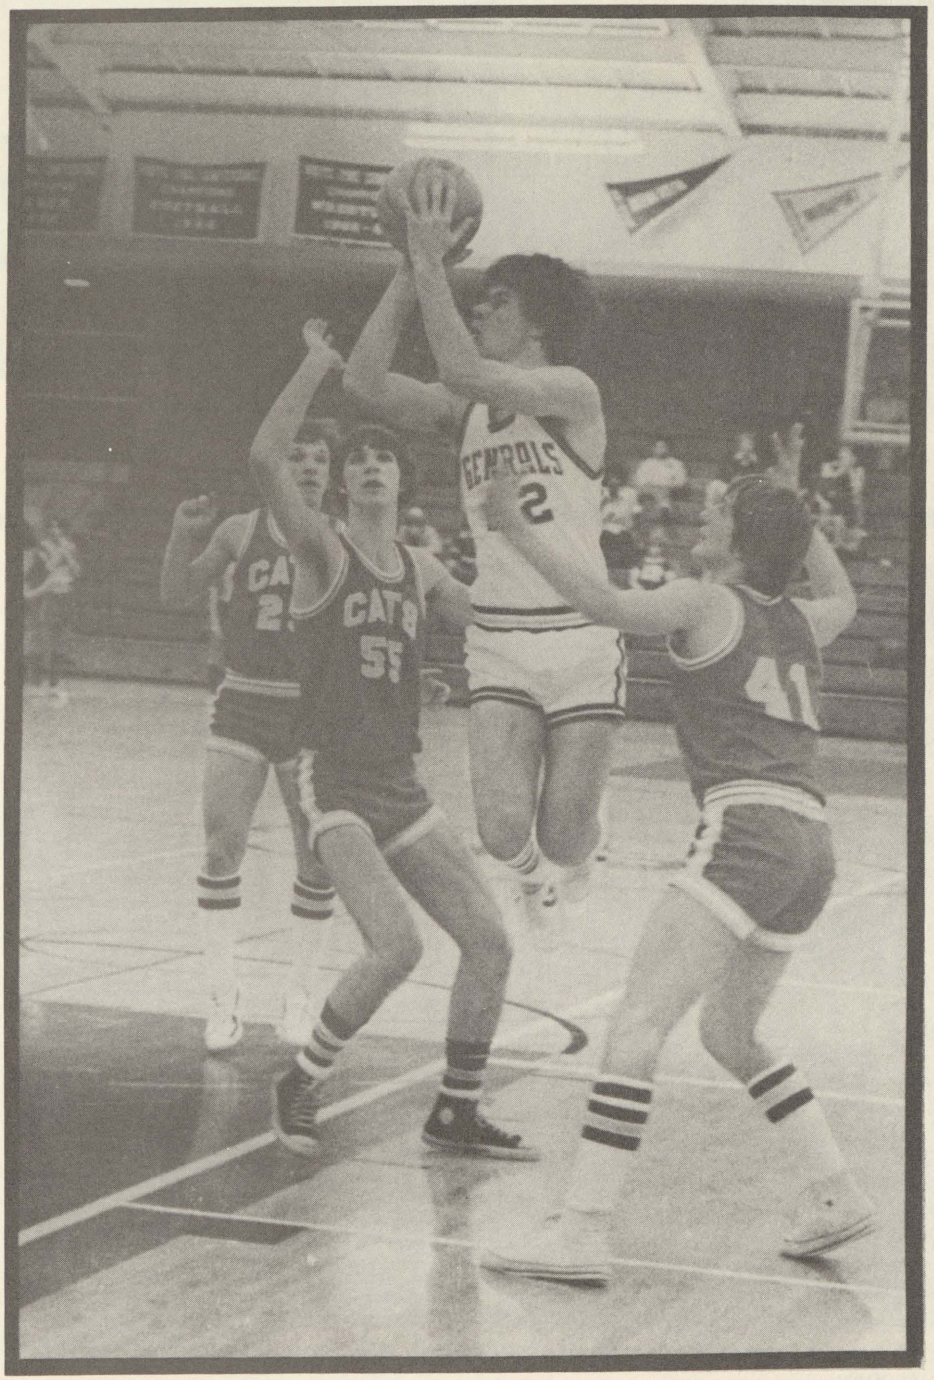
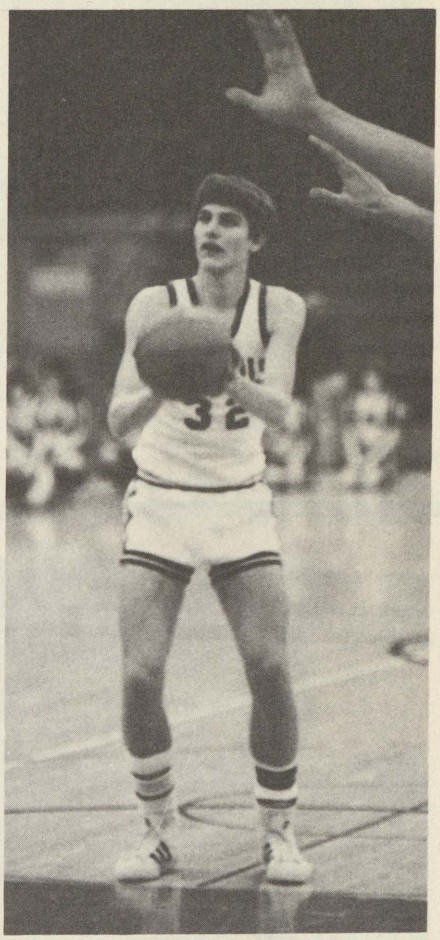
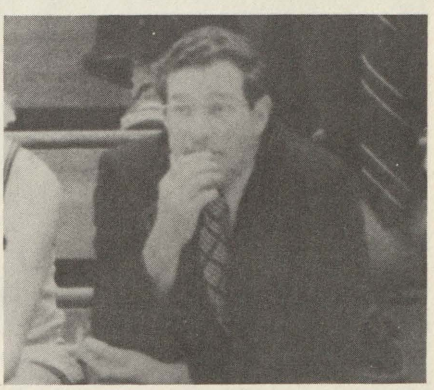
The men on the bench intently watch the outcome of the next play.

After suffering a disappointing season last year, MacArthur's Varsity basketball team put it together to accomplish one of the best seasons ever. Under the leadership of Coach Kaligian, the team's morale was kept high and the losses lower than most have seen in years. Along with the winning came more support from the student body which helped D.M. overpower St. Stephen's in one of the most exciting games of the year.



Up for the score is senior Mark Schaeff.





The apprehension is apparent on Coach Kaligian's face as he awaits a ref's decision.

HOT LEGS

1978 Girl's Varsity Track Team.

Jeri Bell is just leaving the board in the long jump.

The girls' track team had a fine season, finishing 9-1 for the year. The girls were also first in the region. Many records were broken during the season. Coach Call should be very proud of his General girls.

The '78 Tennis season was completed by winning the White Pine Conference championship for the 11th year in a row. The team took 3rd place in regionals, and went on to State Competition. Number one singles was played by Ven Johnson, who finished with a 19-4 record. Other singles players were Bill Lamb, Scott Symons, Andi Howard.

The JV team finished with a winning conference record of 4-2. Number one singles was played by Kevin Howard. Spectacular number one doubles play, was performed by Dan Hare, and Mark Koviac. Other singles players were John Marxhausen, Rob Dewar, Bill Hoerner, and Dan Hare.

True feelings of General spirit were reflected on Sign Competition Day.

This year MacArthur students again proved their spirit by making the week of October 14 a success. The week began with the disappointment of bad weather for the annual powder puff game. But the postponement of the game didn't dampen the spirit of the seniors who became victorious. Tuesday was Costume Day, followed by the trike race and sign competition on Wednesday. Thursday, students attended the Crowning Assembly, and enjoyed the Homecoming Dance and football game on Friday.

COULD IT

The events of Spirit Week ended with the football team winning over Mt. Pleasant 18-7. The girls were escorted on the football field by their fathers. Then last year's queen, Camille Cleveland crowned Chris Mikesell. The girls were then driven around the track in corvettes, followed by the floats. The float contest was won by the juniors, Displaying "magic" by using a Jeannie. The queen, her court and the student body danced to the music of Dartz.

Our MacArthur cheerleaders can be proud and truly say that they are number 1. The Varsity squad took first place last summer at camp, and were rated third in the nation. Besides early morning practices in the summer, the girls worked everyday after school from September through February. This years varsity also made it to the state competition. All three squads give the student body the spirit and enthusiasm it needs. Let's give them one big cheer! The MacArthur bands were kept busy during the '78 season with various concert appearances. The concert band, decreased in membership and instrumentation due to the number of graduates last year, nevertheless worked enthusiastically and improved tremendously during the season. The stage band performed with traditional excellence, entertaining at the Winter Concert, the General Revue, and the MacArthur Festival, as well as touring area middle and elementary schools.

The Modern Music Masters, musical counterpart to national Honor Society, were involved in numerous activities also, such as sponsoring a dance and writing an alma mater. Chapter delegates were sent to Fairfield, Ohio, for the organization's silver anniversary. Chapter Officers were Pres., J. Wickwire, V.Pres., V. Salonen, Sec., L. Schnell, Treas., R. Enlightenment and information are the two all-important purposes of a newspaper, and the General News, DM's own campus publication, kept these objectives in view constantly. Faculty advisor Linda Furgason shepherded the nearly thirty aspiring journalists who comprised the News staff. Under the student direction of senior editors-in-chief Sara Anspach and Debbie Whitman, the paper churned out issue after issue of feature stories, event chronicles, opinion columns and humorous essays, all of which were of great informative or entertainment value. Highlights of the regular editions were "People In General", short spotlight flashes on DM students and faculty, "General Consensus", a student body poll, "General of the Week", a selection which featured outstanding students involved in sports and "My Turn", with enjoyable maniacal ravings by senior columnist Mark Deming.

Creative artwork by sophomore Mark Rupp gave each issue its own unique, polished appearance, and all these efforts combined to produced a very professional newspaper of which the staff and students have a right to be proud.

This years fall play, under the direction of Ms. Joy Williams, assisted by Mark Sengele as student director, and with Judy Hartman as stage manager, was a complete success.

"The Importance of Being Earnest" is the story of two young men with secret identities, both named Earnest, the two girls they fall in love with, and the uncovering of one's true identity. Both comical and serious, the play provided excellent entertainment and once again proved the talent of MacArthur students.

Vocal music is one of the most satisfying art forms. The sounds come not from a horn, not from palette or pen, but from one's own body. The Spring Play was replaced by the second General Revue, written and directed by Ms. Joy Williams. The story was of a small college, Duncan Murphy, that was closing because of a lack of funds. The students gathered together to stage a talent show to attract an alumnus, now a movie producer, to make a movie of them. This spot featured various acts performed by many DM students. Professor Ignatious, who secretly wrote novels, was suspected of kidnapping an oil sheik who was buying the college to drill oil—the actual reason why the school was closing. After the talent show, the truth was revealed, the college was saved by the movie producer and all lived happily ever after.

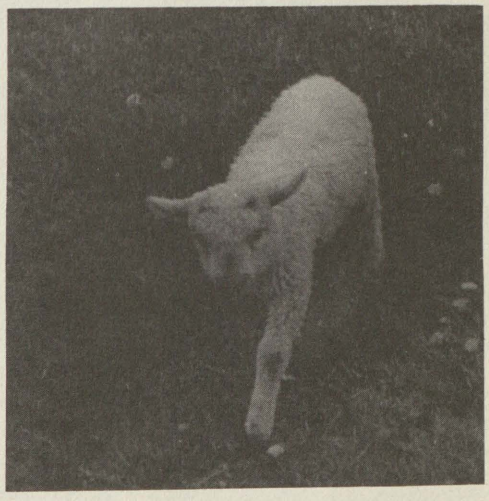
SPRING FESTIVAL '78

Because of the fantastic ideas of Oscar Huyghe, Mrs. Steinmetz, and Mrs. Arcangeli, MacArthur put on one of the biggest events of the year: the MacArthur Festival. The Festival was not only a showplace for art work by students all around the township, but a place for music displays, drama displays, concession stands by nearly every active group at MacArthur, and was all started with a parade down Center Road. In addition to the displays, there was an Army helicopter landing throughout the day, and Spanish dancers to keep the crowd amused. All in all, it was a glorious day.

Coordinators of the festival were Mrs. Arcangeli, Mr. Hugyhe, and Mrs. Steinmetz.



The Saginaw Children's Zoo provided the festival with a petting farm, including a little lamb.

"You think that one's funny? Did you hear the one about . . ." laughs Eric Grindahl.

Even though the Class of 1978 had many good times and planned a number of class activities, it soon came to an end in their senior year. They couldn't say "Wait 'til we're seniors," or "the seniors have all the fun'' anymore; it was their turn and they couldn't go back. They took advantage of their position and planned tobaggan rides, ski trips, and a Florida trip to make their senior year the best one of all.

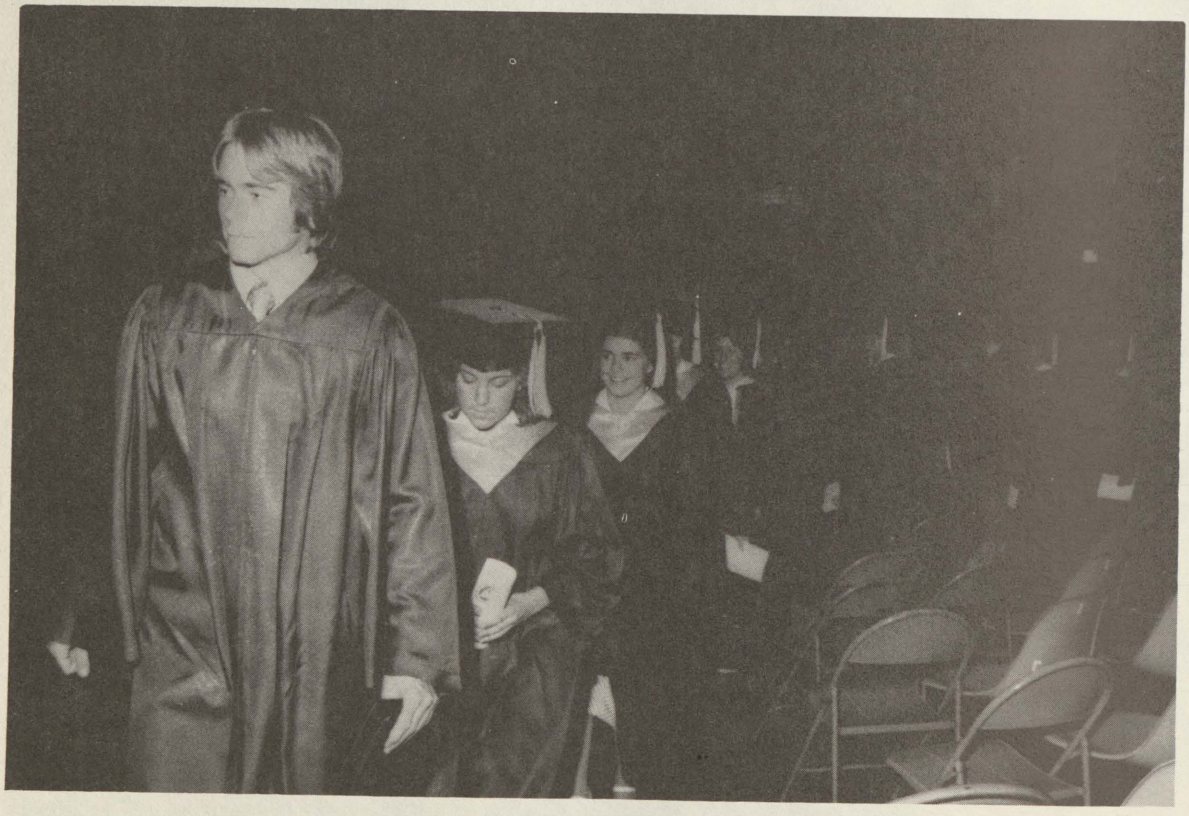
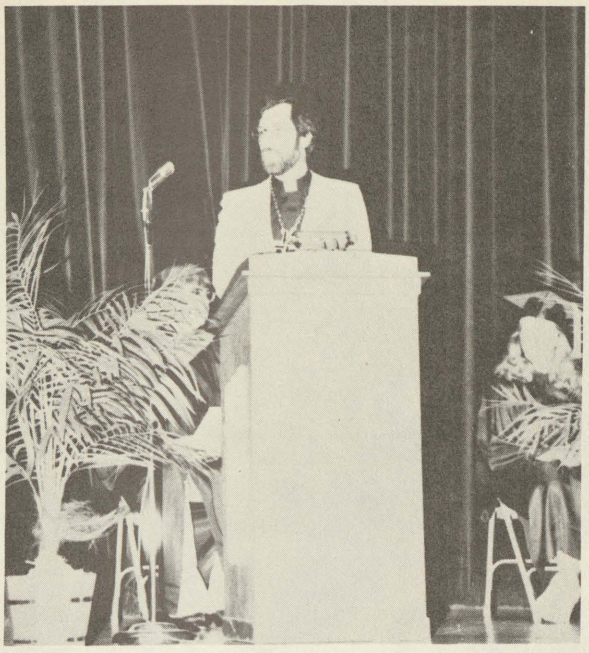
Over the past seventeen years, the Generals have been racking up hit after dynamite hit, and have been noted as one of the most prestigious groups in the nation. Their latest million-seller, "The Top 20", a highly acclaimed cut from their "Class of '78" album, is included in this great new package from DM studios. Recent live recordings have been combined with a number of "golden oldies" to bring to you Itella syndicate's proud presentation of . . . "The Best of the Generals!"

Class Of 78

Douglas MacArthur High School



The Senior class participates in the Ceremony.



Reverend Roger Browne speaks at the service.

Mark Sengele says a prayer.

'78 Graduates consider the inspiration of the service.

This year's Baccalaureate theme was "Where do we go from here?" Guest speakers at the service were Reverend Roger Browne, from Warren Avenue Presbyterian Church, and Pastor John Crabbe from the Family Baptist Church.

The Senior Trio consisting of Beverly Gleffe, Denise Johnson, and Lisa Johnson, sang "Bless the Beasts and the Children" with Chris Cleveland accompanying.

The 1978 Baccalaureate committee was Sara Anspach, Marsha Hudberg, Lisa Johnson, Judy Snoke, and Mrs. Mary Jo Zuziac.

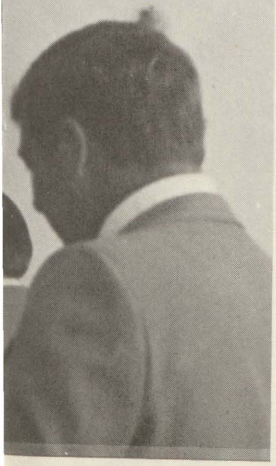
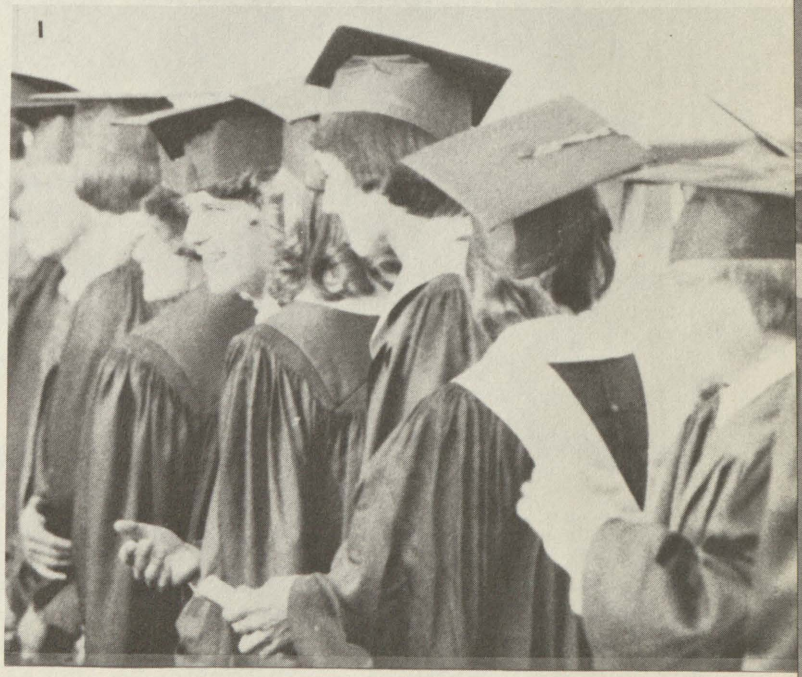
LOOKS LIKE M

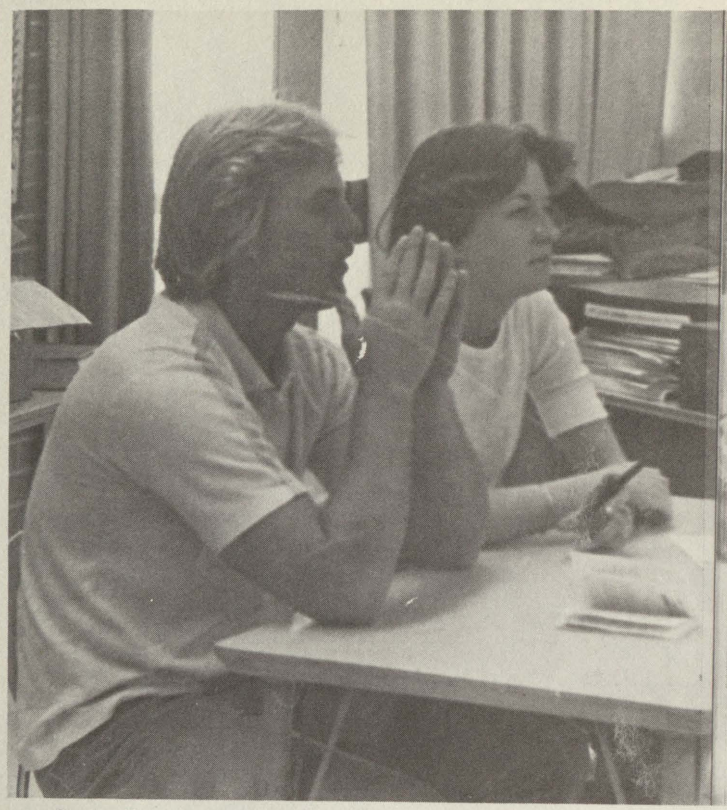
I MADE IT!

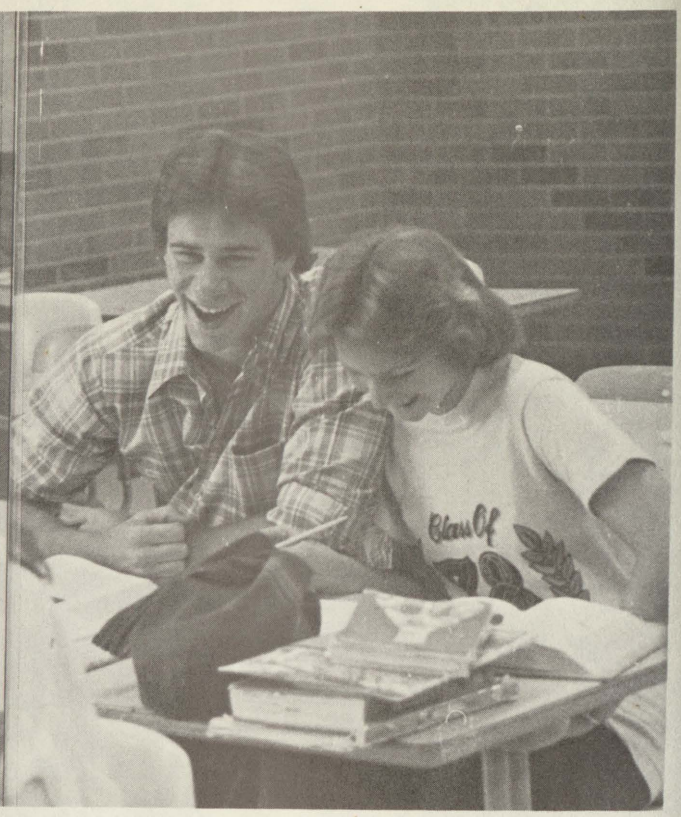
(A) Mr. Collier congratulates Lisa Trezek. (B) Mr. Huyghe addresses the Class of '78. (C) This senior's car echoes her personal "Celebration Day." (D) Mike Schultz's appearance is rescued by Mrs. Zuziak. (E) Mr. Neiderquill of the school board offers Robin Heise her diploma. (F) "Wha?" Is Mark Deming relieved or not? (G) The final threshold is crossed. (H) "I've got it made now," assures Brian Bradley. (I) Awaiting their turn, an anxious row of graduates prepare to ascend.

It took four long years, but it was over in one evening as the seniors accepted their diplomas and became alumni. The introductions were made by Lisa Johnson, with musical features by the Triple Trio and soloist Roxanne Deibel. Rich Martin, Sara Jardinico, and Chris Mikesell spoke on the allergorical topic of "The Current of Life". Mr. Huyghe congratulated the class on their many achievements, and Superintendent MacConnell reminded them they "pass this way but once." Roll was called by Lisa Martino and Carolyn MacConnel, sending the students on from the destination they had just reached to the goals that shine ahead.







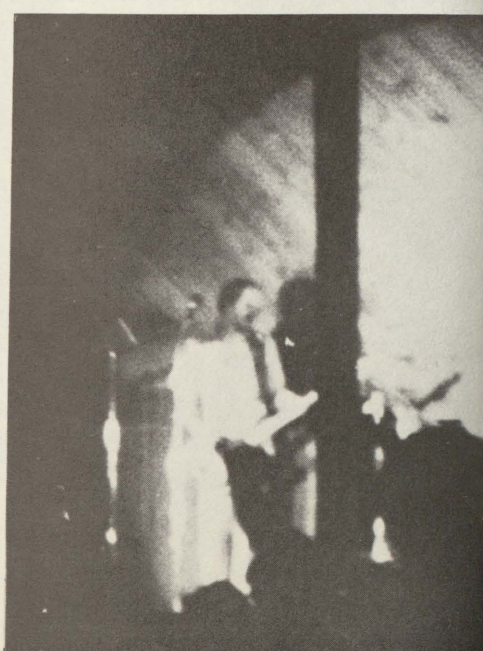


Senior Exams have varied effects on students; Mike Schultz and Lynn Spence seriously concentrate while Mark Schaeff and Julie Kitsch relax at the end.

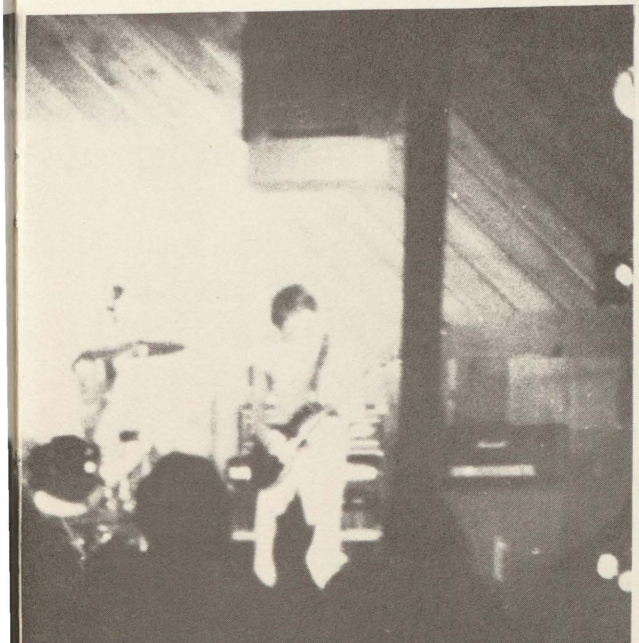
FOUR YEARS GONE

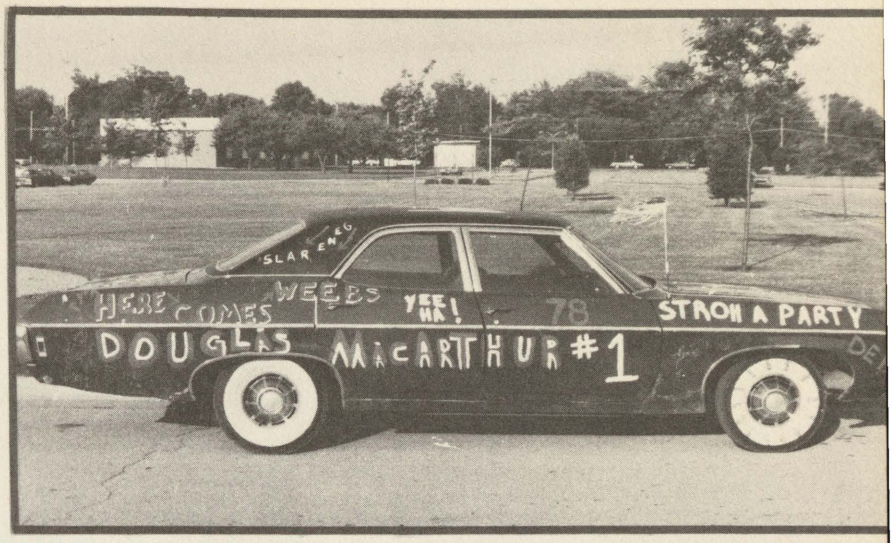
Spring blossomed and the senior activities started taking place. Many students received special recognition at the Senior Honor Banquet held in the kiva. Announcements arrived and parties were planned as May got underway. Seniors studied and took their exams over three days, trying hard to study in between commencement rehearsals and graduation parties. Many seniors painted their cars with sentiments on their four years at DMHS, wishing the school a fond farewell.

The annual senior trip was a day at Cedar Point.



Bethany Wright, here in the General Revue, performed many times at Pit & Balcony. (BELOW) The Senior Party was held at the Candlelight Inn, featuring "Ceyx".





Some students' artistic ability is only revealed on the surface of their cars. (BELOW) Rick Bishop, alias Mr. Rock and Roll, describes his climb to the top.

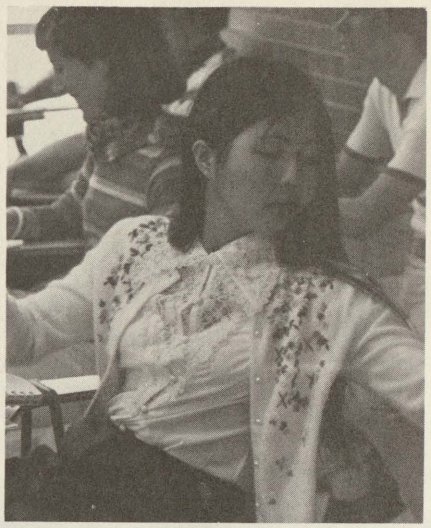
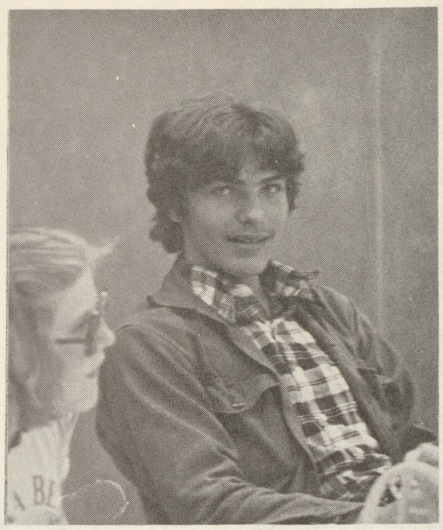
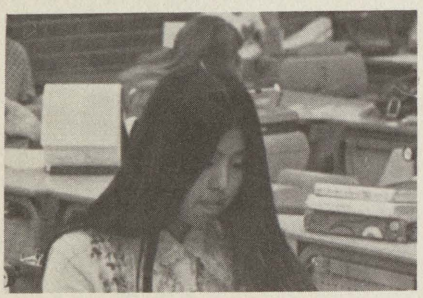
Hei jeg er den stakkars utveksling studenten som matte finne megi alt fra disse "crazy yearbook" elevene.



Kuniko Maki asks advice of a fellow Sociology student.



Eric Denoval, eagerly awaits the forthcoming weekend.



Kuniko Maki tries her hand at American typing.

To leave home for one year takes a little more courage than the average person has. It takes a special person to stay with a strange family, speak a strange language, and not know anyone but yourself. MacArthur had only three exchange students this year. The three countries that were represented by the students were Japan, Norway, and France. All three of the students came to us through the Youth for Understanding Program. They also were made members of the National Honor Society.

Each of the students feel that their experiences here in America were challenging and rewarding. Norwegian student Synnove Venas confided, "I will never forget the opportunity of coming to another country and learning about peoples' culture and way of life."

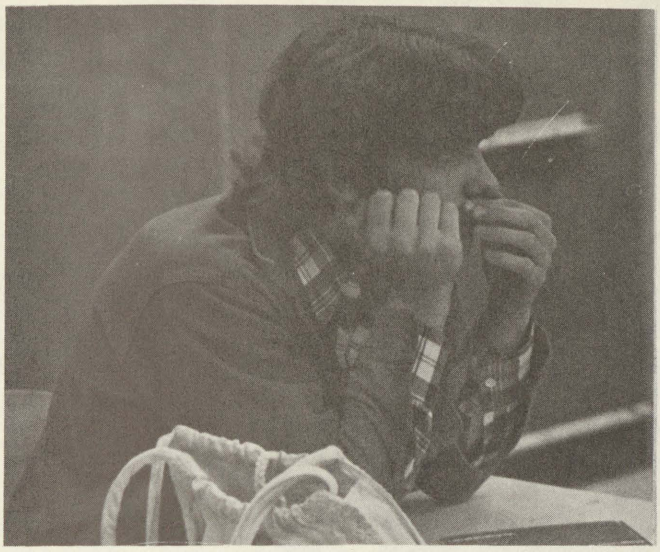
WAY FROM HOME...



Eric Denoual, thinks longingly about Mr. Such's moustache.

Synnove Venas, from Mandalen, Norway, and Kuniko Maki from Hokoshima, Japan, relax peacefully on campus next to the pond.

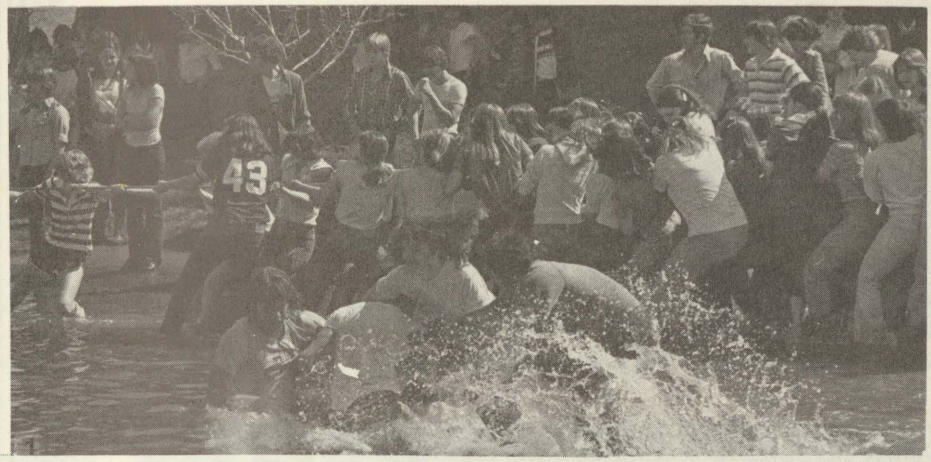
"CLOSER ... NOW"



The class of '79 with 319 students gave an impressive showing in sports and activities. The construction of the Junior homecoming float was overseen by Ann McCabe, and judged winner of the competition. The class play, under the direction of Sheila McCabe was entitled "The Great Bank Robbery." 1978 was an active, satisfying year for the class of 1979.

1. Juniors try to save their name.
2. Sharon Young cheers for the final game.
3. Kathy Klement and Joni Seidel react in the Kiva.
4. Sue Humphreys works on the Itella Yearbook.

1979

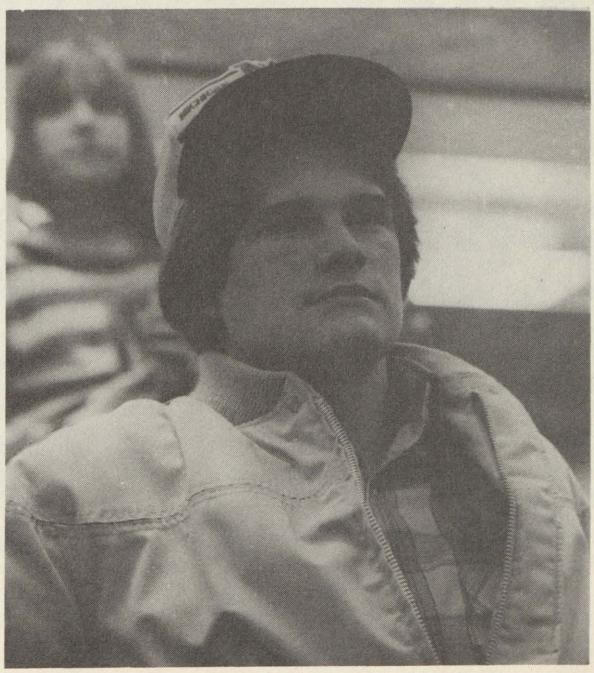
Below: Brad Waite ponders the outcome of the game.



Now that the freshmen year is over it's time to forget the games of ninth grade and get down to business.

That is just what this year's sophomore class did. Setting a fine example for the rest of the class was the class council. Led by president Scott Kaligian the council raised money for the class coffers by having dances, rummage and bake sales, and other financially advantageous events. The rest of the class followed suit by turning in super efforts on the varsity and junior varsity athletic teams, and in DM's drama and music productions.

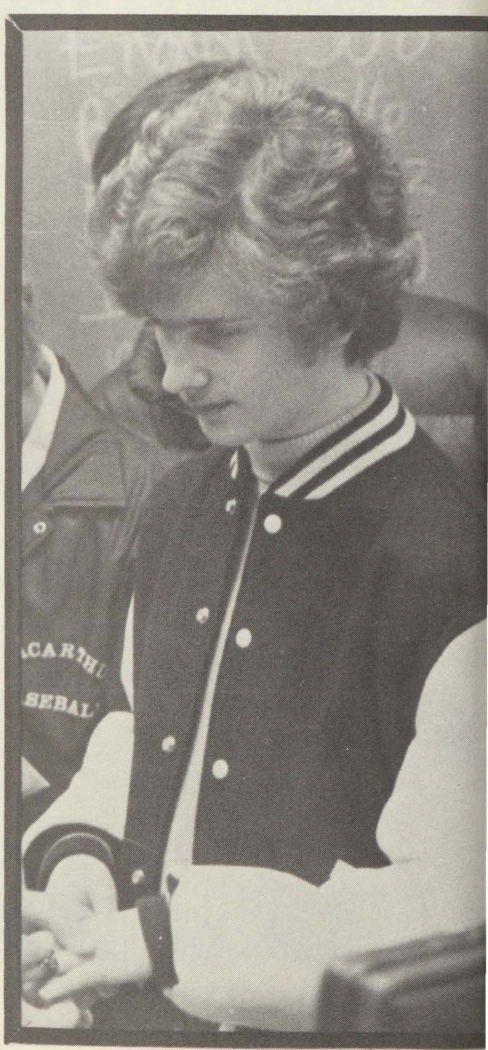
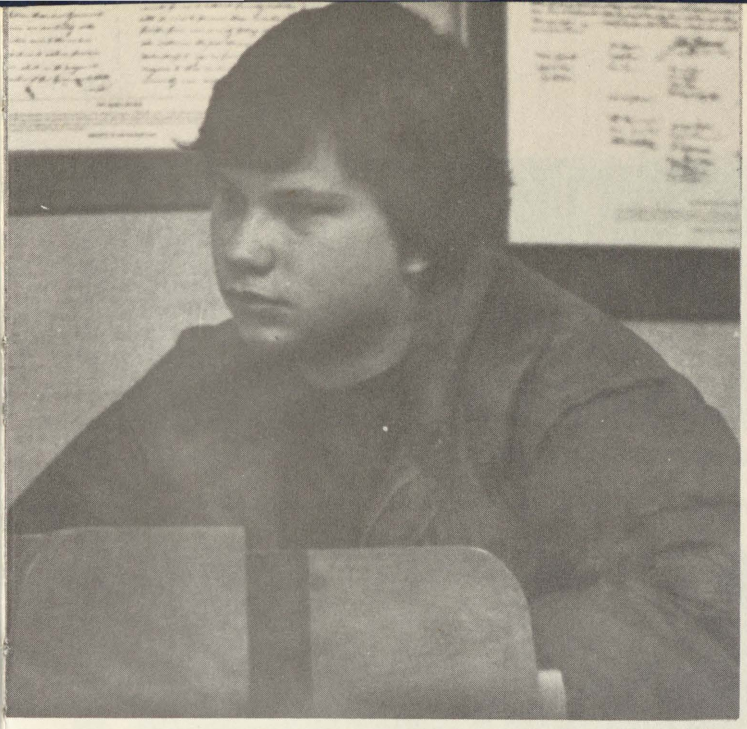
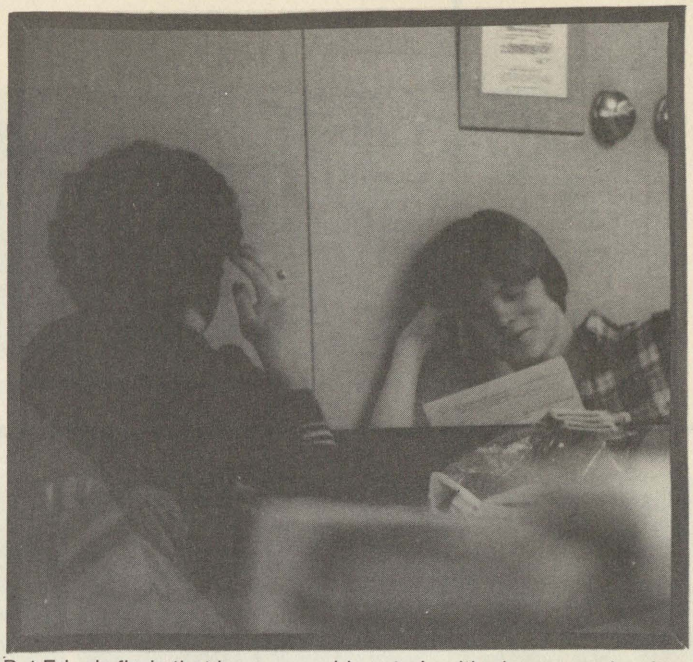
Sophomore Class Council: (Seated) S. Zeros, (Standing) R. Kropp, C. Crimmins, G. Foltz, D. Flynn, T. Knapp, (Top) P. Labrack, S. Kitch, L. Gugino, S. Heidger, T. Holloway.





John Marxhausen seems lost among the complexities of Enstein's Theory, Hero's Formula, Boyle's and Compten's Law and what to get to eat when he goes to the Kiva.



Pat Edgely finds that he can combine study with pleasure as he sits at a study table in the library with junior Nancy Heath.

Being a sophomore is not all fun and games, as Tony Voision finds out as he rushes to finish his Algebra assignment.

ARRIVAL

Sue Calkins, Karen O'Keefe, Elaine Verdusco, Sally Sears, and Karen Chauvin show their spirit on Costume Day.

The class of '81, with 370 students, was very successful in sports and activities. The Freshmen float, directed by Jeanne Spence, came in second place. The Freshmen football team was undefeated until the last game. "Who Murdered Who" was this year's play directed by Jody Thick. The Freshmen class council had many bake sales that were successful in raising class funds.

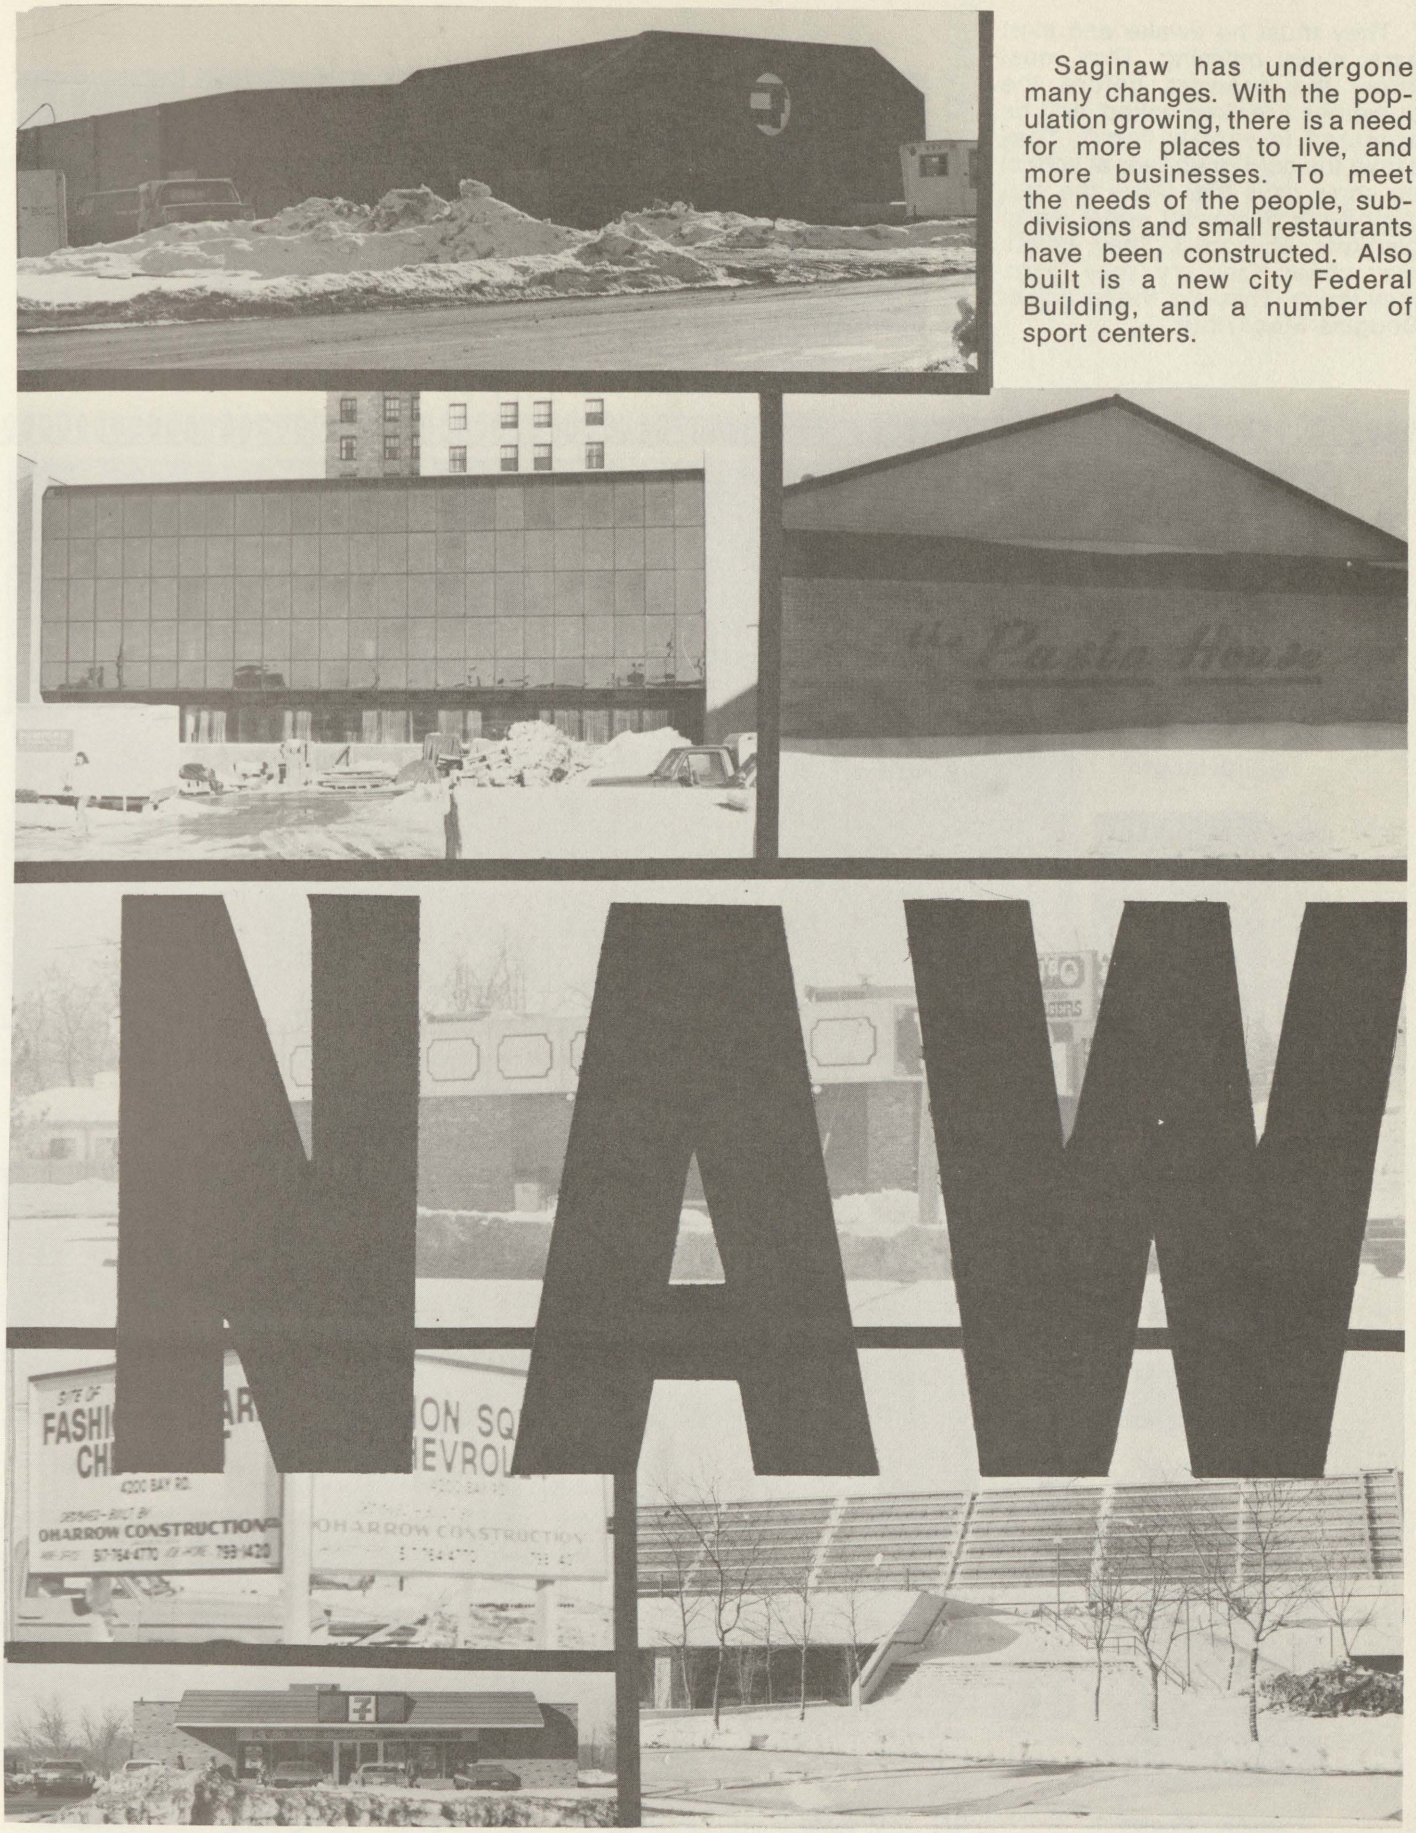
FIRST STATE BANK
A&P
SAGA
THE BARNSTORMER



Saginaw has undergone many changes. With the population growing, there is a need for more places to live, and more businesses. To meet the needs of the people, subdivisions and small restaurants have been constructed. Also built is a new city Federal Building, and a number of sport centers.

They must be awake and alert early every morning. They must know the answers before the questions are even asked, and be prepared to explain "why". They brave the cold to appear at school on snow days that leave the student body burrowed under warm blankets at home. They laugh, they cheer, they cry, they learn, they teach. They are the faculty of Douglas MacArthur.

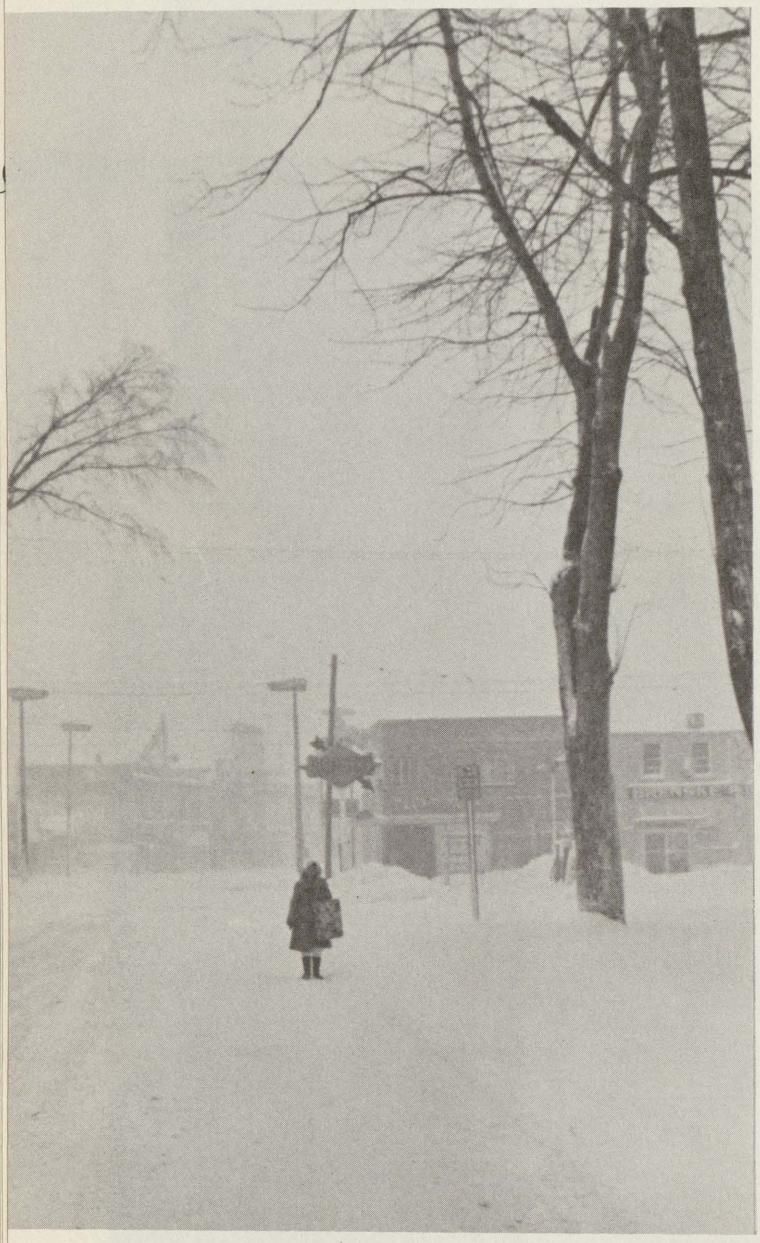
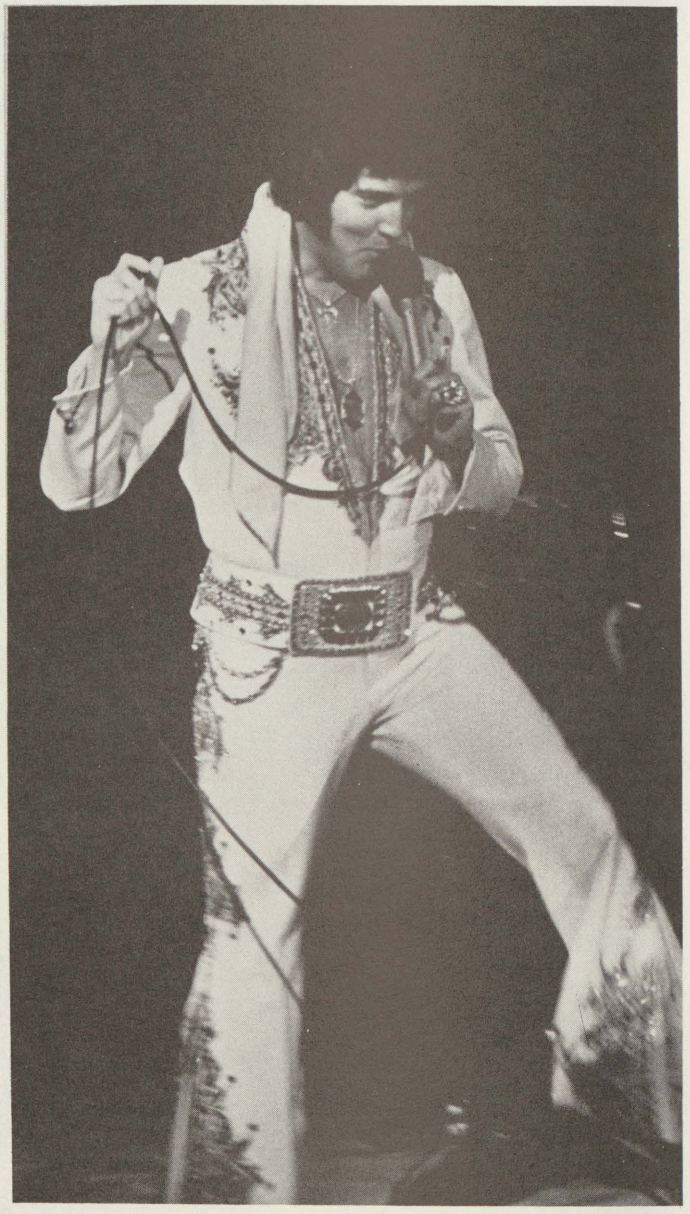
EVERY KIND OF PEOPLE



(above) A solitary figure walks down Genesee Street in the aftermath of the big snowstorm, which came in force on January 26, 1978.



(right) The immortal King of Rock, Elvis Presley, died on August 16, 1977.

Farm prices went up as the striking farmers took the spotlight.

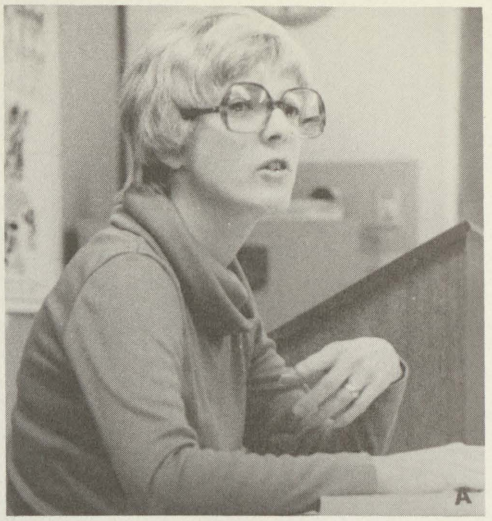
The thirty-ninth president of the United States, Jimmy Carter, is pictured while campaigning in Saginaw.

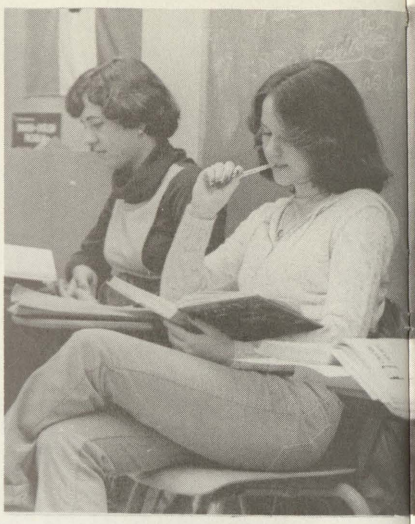
The tragedy of Charlie Chaplin's death was compounded by the senseless abduction of his body, which was found several months later.

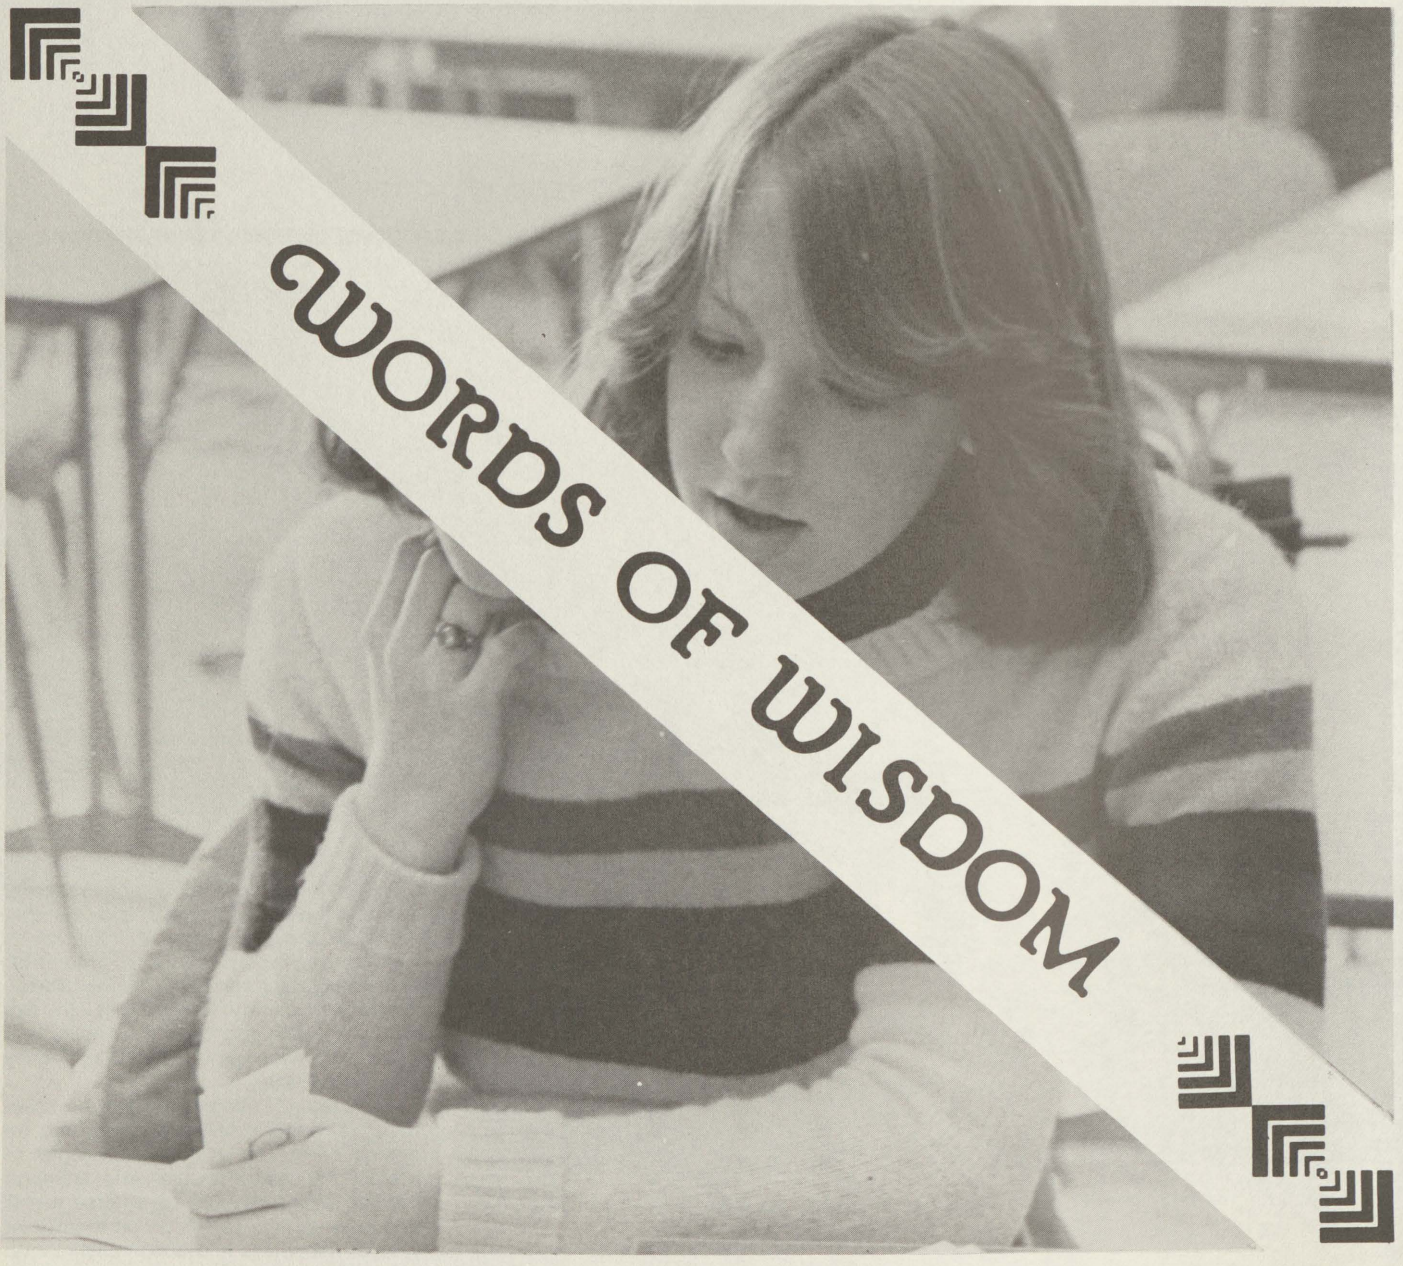
1977-78 has been a conglomeration of sadness and joy, struggle and triumph. America saw the death of many of its heroes, and experienced a full year in office with a new president, Jimmy Carter. We lost those who made us laugh, like Groucho Marx and Charlie Chaplin, and those who made us sing, like Bing Crosby and Elvis Presley.

Even though things were slowed down by a coal strike, farmers strike, and an energy crisis, the U. S. still managed to perfect the space shuttle. And although mother nature brought us a fierce winter and cold spring, we will go on to another year of happiness and accomplishments.

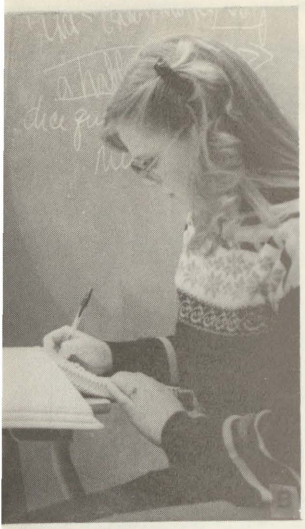
This is the first year MacArthur has offered third year education in German, French and Spanish. Mrs. Lesley is in her first year of teaching at MacArthur, and is teaching three separate German classes. Mr. Ruonavaara is the head of the French department. He had a fun time teaching his classes French Christmas carols. Mr. Meyer kept his Latin classes busy with their annual slave auction and banquet. Mrs. Wellman returned to MacArthur after Christmas, and has entertained her classes with "Spanish dancing" and bake sales.

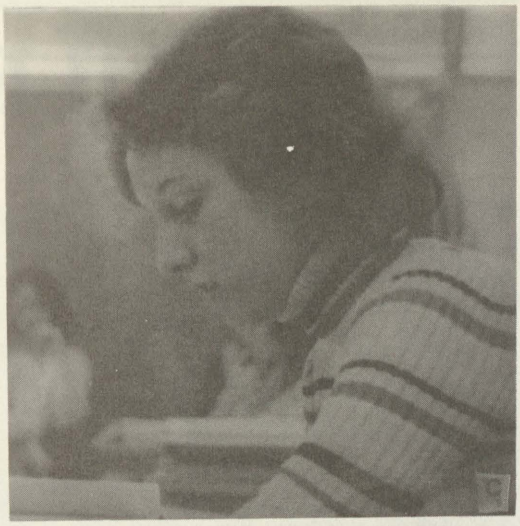


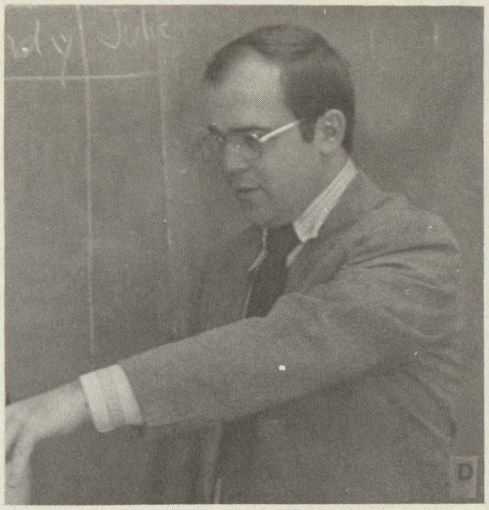


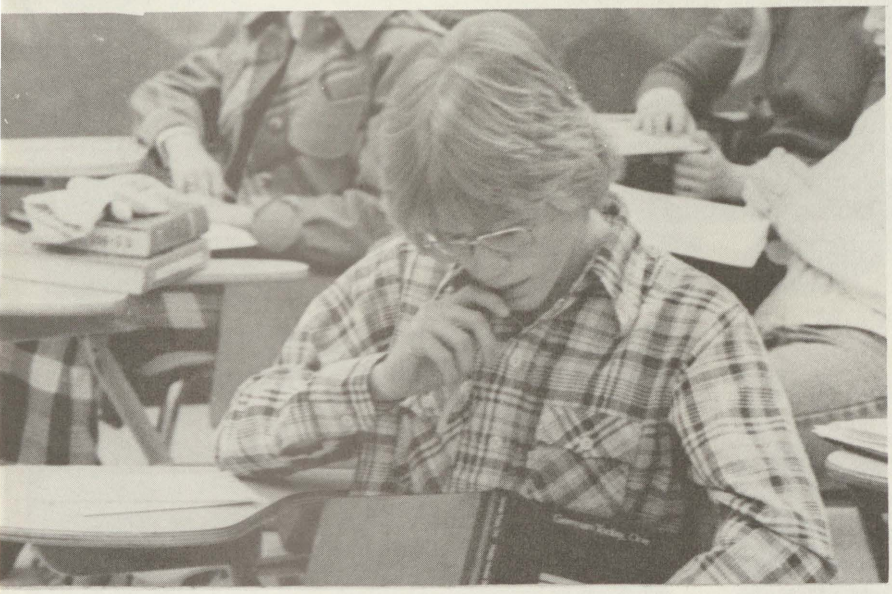


WORDS OF WISDOM









A) Mrs. Wellman says, "Frances es mala langua."
B) Watch Kris Humphrey, Marsha Hudberg and Mary Baudoux while they read the comic in their Spanish book.
C) Lisa Hobbs works hard to finish another assignment.
D) Mr. Meyer pats a pet on the head.
E) Clifford Todd rules the class for a day.

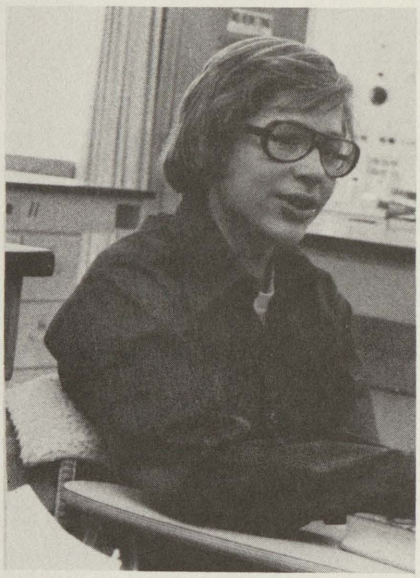
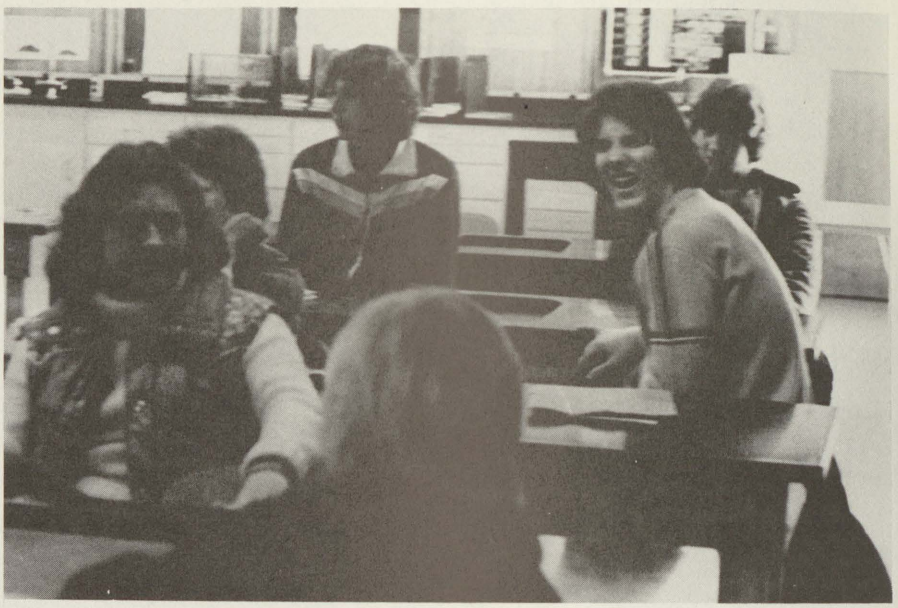
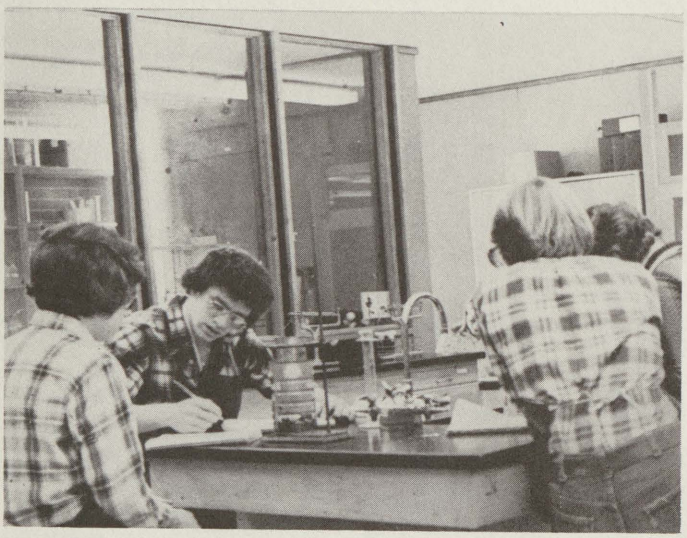
CURIOUS



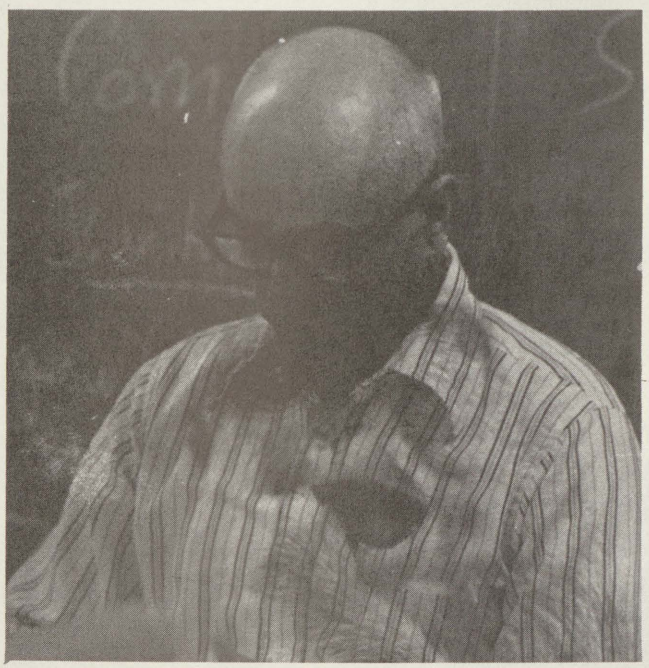
"I'll never get this" says Biology I student Mike Sherman.



First hour Conservation waits for Mr. Dubay.



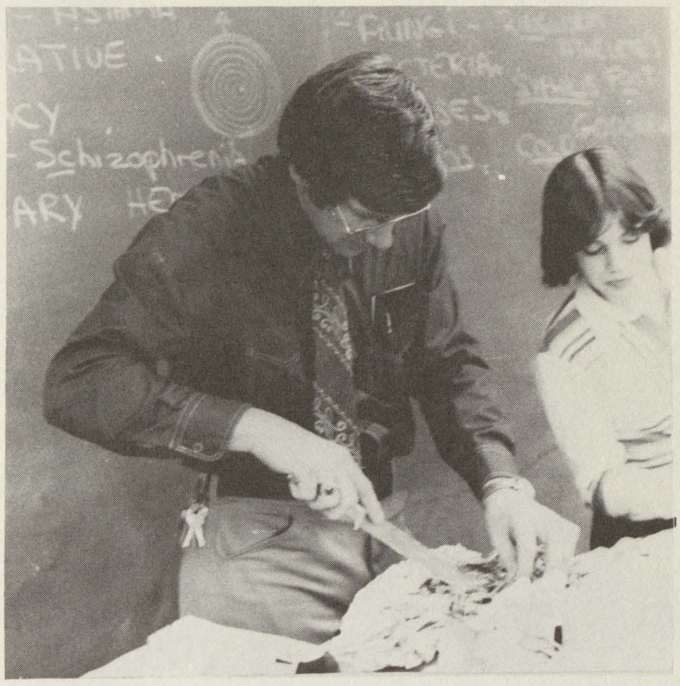
Mr. Skillman's second hour Chemistry I works on another lab.



Working with animals and science, Mr. Dubay developed a split-personality.

mind

Lisa Valdini and Judy Wickwire work with the monkeys.

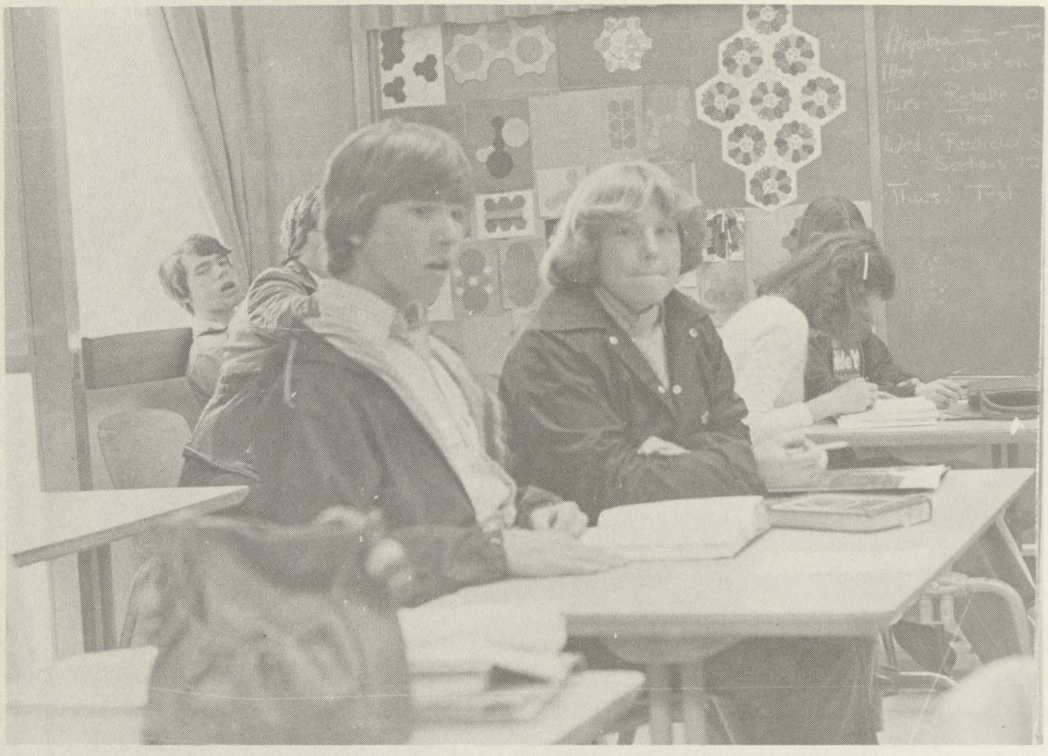


Mr. Quinn shows his butchering abilities to his class.

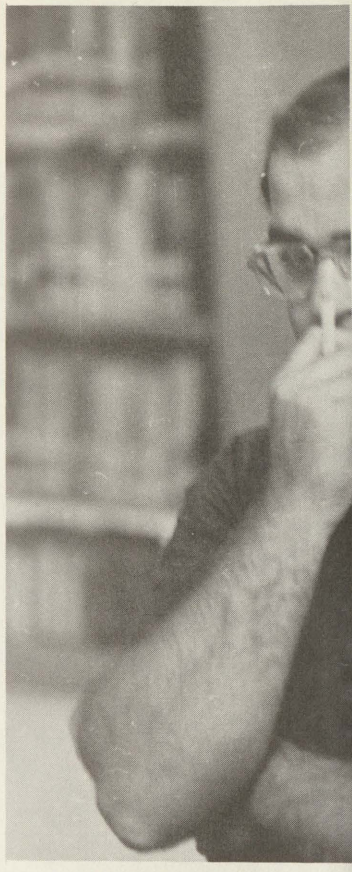
The Science classes at MacArthur were working on many projects throughout the year. Biology II classes dissected fetal pigs. Chemistry classes worked on labs, while Biology I classes studied chemical reactions in beef, cabbage, and milk to create what is commonly known as corned beef, saurkraut, and cheese. The result is a reuben sandwiche. All of the projects were successful.

Biology I, devours their reuben sandwiches.

JIVE TALKIN'



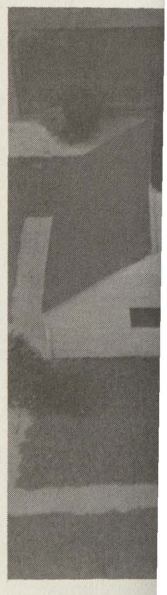
Dave Nelson and Coleen O'Keefe think to themselves "Did she catch us?"

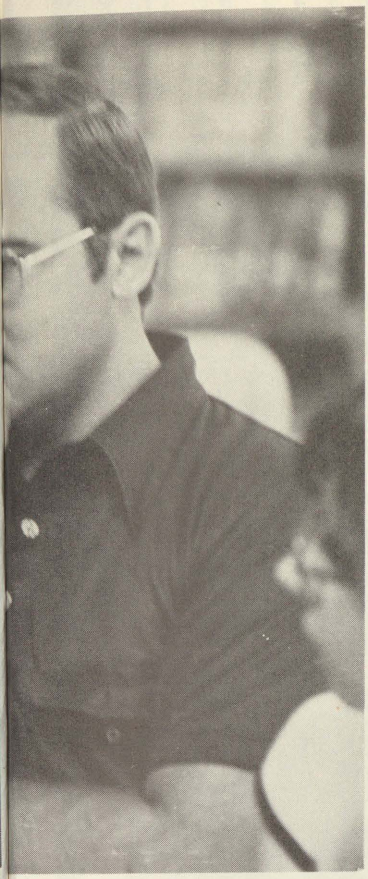


Mr. Meyer thoughtfully considers one of his students

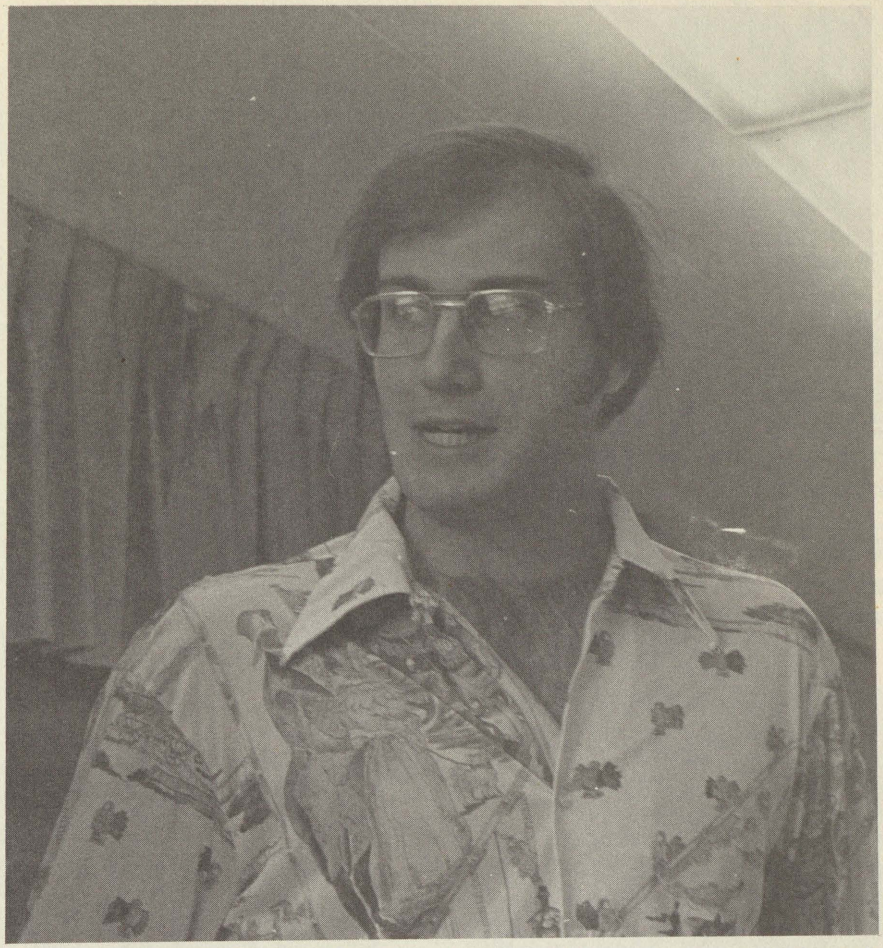
Underclassmen English classes were changed from last year's five phases to Basic, General, and Advanced. Miss Egan's class constructed science fiction projects to complete a short story science fiction unit. A new course called Honors English was formed this year. These classes were taught by Mrs. Hunter and Mr. Meyer. Mr. Meyer's comment was "It is developing as expected."

Ms. Williams chuckles to herself while reading a British comedy.

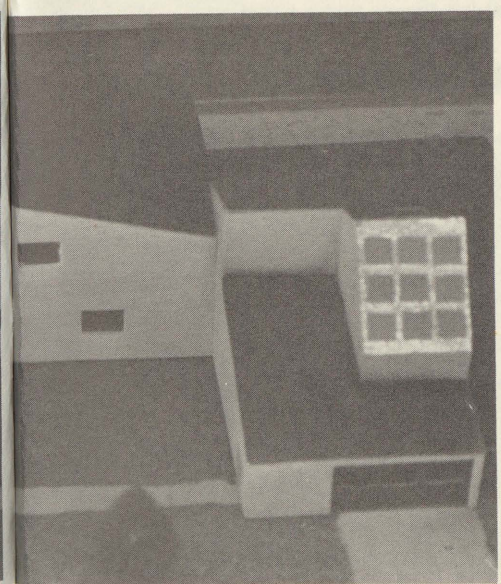




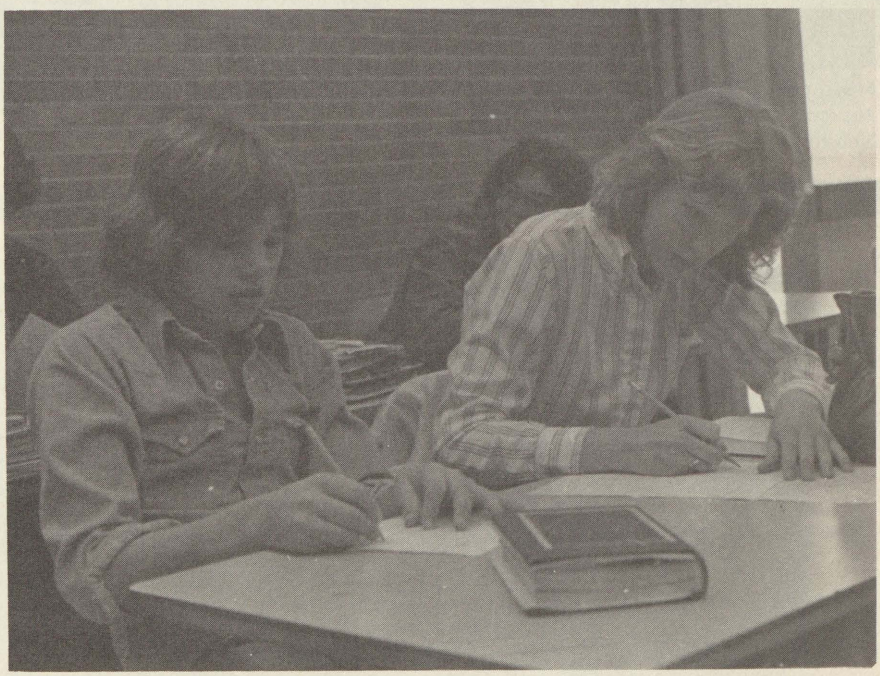
defenses of a sentence fragment.



Mr. Williams, student teacher of Miss Egan, looks incredulous at the prospect of one of HIS students failing English!



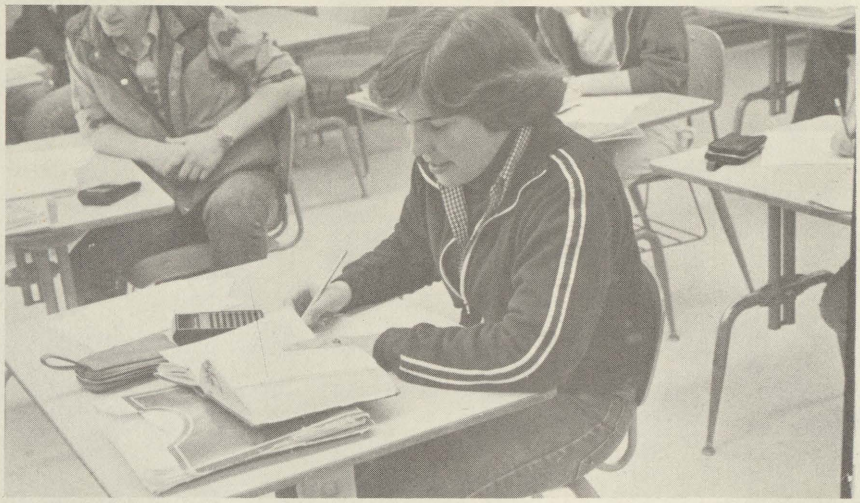
One of Miss Egan's Sci-Fi projects.



Dave Mayer, and Linda Morley work feverishly to complete their English assignments.

THE CIRCLE IS SMALL

Many advanced courses were made available to serious math students this year. Such courses include Algebra II-Trig., Pre Calculus, Senior Math, and Probability and Statistics. Those students wishing only to complete graduation requirements in the field of math were offered basic instruction in Algebra and Geometry. A thorough roster of math courses was open to students with all ranges of interest.



Cathy Gay admires her modern Geometry book.

Laura Spence and Linda Eickhorn scoff at the theory that a circle equals 360 degrees.

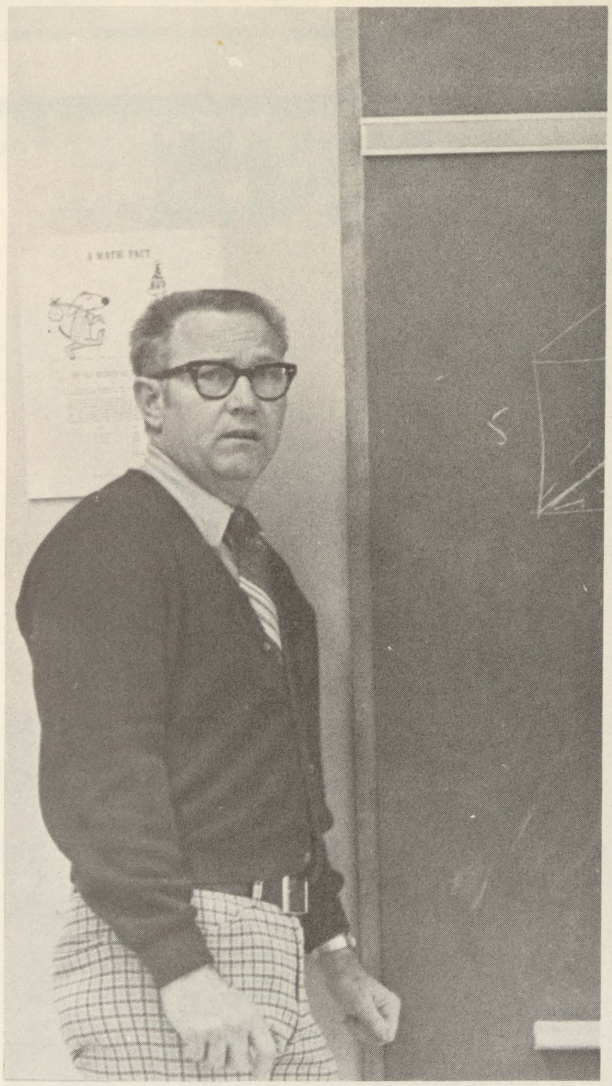
Jackie Riebe and Diane Quinnan



Mr. Koeltzow appears crest fallen at one of his student's responses.

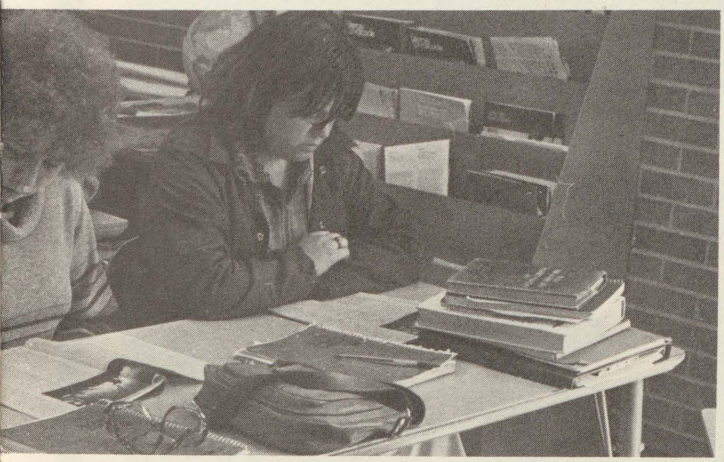
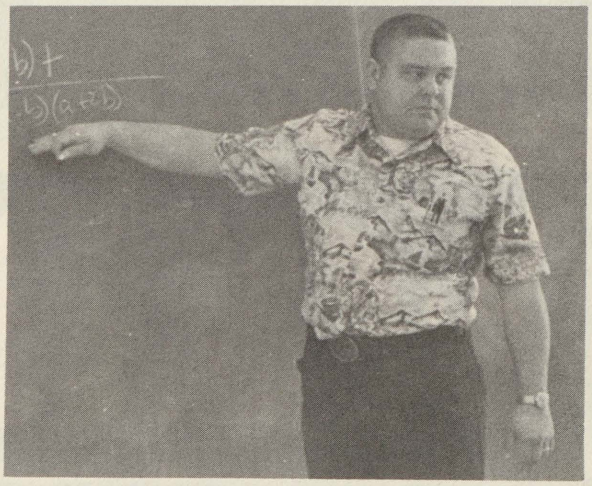
Amy Powell and Shelly Nemanec listen attentively to instructions.



pretend to be doing their math.



Mr. Garn presents his own theory of relativity.

Total Recall

My mind is barely able,
to recall memories of a pool table.
The 67 Chevy, the gang
and the songs we all sang.
From Grand Rapids and the Silverdome to the fabulous parties at my home.
All these things are dear to me.
Even the hot dog commercial on TV.
Cedarpoint, Prom, Sanford,
the whirlpools and Stratford.
C.G. Biggs, Ba-Booms and the Bells
Bingers, Lumberjacks, and "Give 'Em Hell!"
"Froman", ShawBear, Wolfie, and the Doc,
Murphie, Johnnie, Glenna, and the Jock.
The screamers and the Boys from H-103 included are the drive-in movies we went to see. I'll miss D.M.H.S. with all of its' thrillers and finishing yearbook lay-outs with twenty cent fillers.

Itella's Patrons

The Itella staff, especially myself, wish to thank all of the businesses in the Saginaw area. Without their help and cooperation during our ad sales campaign this musical extravaganza would not have been possible. THE ITELLA is produced by the staff, for the students of DMHS. But the real credit goes to the advertisers and patrons.

The staff would also like to thank Art Lewis of WSGW and the Saginaw News for their help to us in obtaining pictures of current events of this year. The title Arrival appeared courtesy of UNION SONGS AB, Stockholm, Sweden for the world, copyright 1976.

Hope for the future, pride in the past,
Ever our light-hearted memories will last.
Dreams of tomorrow, goals of today—
Nothing can take them away!
Learning to live and learning to grow;
Douglas MacArthur the way will show!
Our hearts will ever be true
To MacArthur, white and blue.
